Forecast For Highland & Eilean Siar
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 0400 on Friday 24 Sep 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Strong winds easing and becoming drier and brighter.

Today:
It will be a rather cloudy and windy start with occasional rain, most persistent and occasionally heavy across the Northwest Highlands. However, becoming brighter and drier from the north during the afternoon. Winds gradually easing. Maximum temperature 16 deg C (61 deg F).

Tonight:
Mainly dry with patchy cloud and occasional clear spells this evening, although the odd shower possible. Outbreaks of rain and drizzle developing overnight, mainly in the north and west. Minimum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Saturday:
Cloudy with outbreaks of rain and drizzle during the morning, although mainly dry around Inverness and the Black Isle. Turning drier elsewhere in the afternoon and skies brightening. Breezy. Maximum temperature 18 deg C (64 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Dry and bright in the east, but rain developing around the west coast on Sunday. Windy. Rain pushing east, clearing into the North Sea early Monday. Then bright with showers.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.